

THE DAILY STAR

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 21

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN THE CITY.

It will probably remain clear the next twenty-four hours.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

RED-STAR game this afternoon. PROMENADE at Art Hall to-night. The Exposition-Board did not meet yesterday.

PART of Halligan's stolen goods have been recovered. THE lecture at Allen Temple, last evening, was very funny.

THE new building for the Cincinnati Club is slowly approaching completion. DEDICATION of the W. C. T. U. rooms, No. 300 Vine a rest, this evening.

MILLCREEK TOWNSHIP is to have a new voting precinct known as Bond Hill.

THE Burnet Work-house Lot Committee is in favor of the sale of the lot.

A $250 FINE occurred in Waters & Co's bucket factory yesterday afternoon.

EX-AUDITOR TATEM thinks the city can not be run with twelve mills tax.

DON'T forget Mr. Conway's lecture on "Oriental Religions" at Pike's to-night.

COMMUNISM communitarians complain that there are no lights or fire at their station.

THE Council Committee on Street Railroad is in favor of the Clifton inclined plane.

JUDGE HOADLY's lecture last evening was well attended and carefully listened to throughout.

THE Cincinnati Grange Supply-house is organized with G. W. Rues, of Hamilton, as President.

MUSICAL and literary entertainment at Communitarian Presbyterian Church to-morrow evening.

PETER PETERS, the man run over at the Torrence road crossing Monday night, died last evening.

WM. LEBES, sent to the Work-house Saturday for loitering, was released on a writ of error yesterday.

A PROPOSITION is on foot to leave Main Hall of the Exposition buildings standing, if it can be made safe.

COUNCIL has requested the Water-works Committee to refrain from supplying the lakes with water.

AT one time yesterday afternoon, by actual count, there were 167 male loiterers in Washington Park.

THE Centennial Dancing Association gives its first complimentary party at Hibernian Hall this evening.

THE Board of Councilmen yesterday gubbed $70 of the Wharfage fund to pay for watering the streets. Police!

THE promenade concerts at Exposition Hall will continue the remainder of the week. Remember the orphans.

THE Sedamvillians are happy. Council has told them to go ahead with their Eighth-street railroad if they want to.

THE young ladies of Lane Seminary Church give an entertainment in the Lecture-room of the Church this evening.

THE old Woodward boys chase the flying-foot ball, back of Lincoln Park, this afternoon, and reunite at the Grand this evening.

THE civil rights case against Captain Culham, of the steamer Granite State, has been dismissed. The complainants did not appear.

THE BODY of an unknown man about fifty years of age was found at the foot of Smith street yesterday afternoon, and an inquest held.

THERE is a general complaint that the accommodations for obtaining letters at the Post-office on evenings and Sundays are insufficient.

THE marriage of Rev. S. S. Ruff, D. D., of this city, to Miss L. S. of D. D., of Ohio, took place to-day at the residence of the bride's parents.

AN ordinance is likely to be passed making the leaving of an excavation on the streets, without an enclosure, and a red light, a punishable offense.

A GERMAN LABORER, by the name of Henry Bunt, fell in a pit on Vine street, near Fifth, this morning, about 10 o'clock. Quite a large crowd collected near the spot, and, after some little delay, an express wagon was called and the man removed to his home.

GEO. W. MEDARY, a printer boarding at the corner of Longworth and Central avenue, attempted suicide last evening by taking laudanum. He said that his wife was hopelessly insane, and he had no desire to live any longer. He was taken to the Cincinnati Hospital and will probably recover.

THE Zoo Zoo is likely to have a street railway. The Cincinnati Inclined Plane ordinance passed the Board of Councilmen yesterday afternoon. Some amendments added to it make the Vine street car available for other roads and limiting the charter to 30 years. The amendments will take it back to the Board of Aldermen to-morrow.

THE Water-works bond bill did not sail through Council yesterday. Tony McCaffery, from the special committee, reported the original ordinance to issue $500,000, and recommended its passage. The Chair ruled it out of order, as said committee was instructed to ascertain the actual indebtedness and the amount necessary to meet it, and report the same, which the committee did not do.

Amusements.

THE GRAND OPERA-HOUSE.—Mr. Chanfrau drew a very good audience at this house again last evening, and though the gallery held more than its proportion for a house like the Grand, the remaining portion of the audience was very select. The play, as we have had occasion to mention before, is beautifully "set," and from the star to the utility man there is not a word of fault to be found. Mr. Chanfrau's "Rip" is a masterly piece of acting, and if it were not for the very sensational character of the play it would undoubtedly be ranked with "Rip Van Winkle" and others of the eccentric school. The matinee performance of "East Lynne," yesterday, was magnificent. Miss DeForest, Mrs. Gratian and Mr. Mark Price acquitted themselves as only thorough artists can do.

WOOD'S THEATER.—"Col. Sellers" was the attraction again last evening at this house. The audience was one of the largest of the season, standing room being a thing of great price. Mr. Raymond needs no extended criticism at this time. The is an artist in the true sense of the word, which fact has been proven to the world long before this. It only remains for us to say that, if only Raymond had the same "Colonel Sellers" that he has always been. The support was excellent, that of Miss Cummings being faultless.

THE NATIONAL—"Wild Bill" drew another large audience last night. The play is an evening's entertainment itself, but with the varieties in the way of songs, dances, "character bits," added, the programme is one that is rarely surpassed in a variety theater.

As a Cincinnati News It.

A letter from a Cincinnati who is traveling in Germany, written to friends in this city, says:

Sunday was a big day—it was the yearly "Kiche Einweihung." On Saturday, when I arrived, everybody was baking cakes for the feast. I felt as if I could give something to have you and your family here to enjoy the pure mountain air and the strange rural German scenery, and for Dan and Abbie to embrace some of their German cousins.

This is said to be a most fruitful year, and seems to be truly such. The country from Darmstadt to Weinheim and Worms is the best that I have seen in South Germany. The Rhine country from Dusseldorf to Frankfurt is very beautiful to look at, but is not so good for the farmer, and will not produce many varieties or as much fruit. It has, however, more grapes, more mountains, more castles and more fine scenery.

I have found a great many things in Germany about as I expected; I find the people are not so hard to understand as I thought they would be. I am learning to speak better every day, and when they ask me where I belong, and I tell them I am an American they won't believe it.

The country is much better improved and far more beautiful than I expected to find it, but considering the amount they have or could have, and the amount of time they expend on living and raising estates, I have come to the conclusion that they don't know how to live as well as Americans. They eat too often (about five times a day), and never enjoy what we term a good "square meal."

Poor people at home live better than the rich do here. Wine is going to be a full crop, and tobacco is looking fine. I visited the grand old castle here (Heldelberg) to-day, and climbed up the mountain to the King's Schull and the Moltken Kuhl, and had a fine view of the Rhine country. I go from here to Carlsruhe and Munich, and thence to Switzerland, Italy, and get to Paris in December.

THE FESTIVE BOARD.

The Hardware Manufacturers to the Hardware Jobbers.

The banquet tendered the Western Hardware Association at the Grand Hotel last night by the hardware manufacturers was as enjoyable an affair and brought together a company of some two hundred as chatty, intelligent and business-like gentlemen as ever assembled on an occasion of the kind.

Mr. Dana, of Boston, presided, and when the feasting was well high through he arose, rapped silence, and very handsomely alluded to the identity of interests of the manufacturer and the jobber, and suggested that it was but the duty of one to protect the other. He thanked the Local Board of Hardware Dealers for the delightful manner in which all had been entertained during the stay in Cincinnati, and hoped to see more of the spirit which prevailed here carried into business.

"The Western Hardware Dealers' Association," the first regular toast, was handsomely responded to by Mr. Nazro, of Milwaukee, the President. He alluded to the formation of the society a year ago and its strength to-day, and concluded with a sentiment in favor of shaping legislation in the favor of the encouragement of American industry.

The second toast, "The Hardware Board of Cincinnati," was responded to by Mr. McCall. He said the local board was the outgrowth of the parent institution formed in Chicago a year ago. Its growth had demonstrated that much good resulted from the daily association of men engaged in the same line of business.

The third toast, "The Hardware Manufacturers of the West," was responded to by Col. L. M. Dayton, of this city, who spoke of the time when the West looked to New York for everything, and also of the wonderful growth of Western manufacturing interests during the last few years.

The fourth regular toast, "The Hardware Manufacturers of the East," was responded to by "Parson" Haynes, of New York, who told two good stories in excellent style, and made striking applications of them to the interests of the hardware dealers and manufacturers.

This closed the regular programme, and then came the voluntary and involuntary speeches.

Mr. Terry, of Chicago, came here with the impression that his city knew how to entertain, but after this day's experience in Cincinnati felt that Chicago must take a back seat.

Major Hawkes said frequent allusions had been made to this child, "The Western Hardware Association," which was born in Chicago a year ago, and he thought it eminently proper that its father should now be heard from. He, therefore, called for Mr. Alex. Clark, of Cincinnati.

Mr. Clark said he acknowledged the paternity of the child, but did not come here expecting to make a speech. This baby is no longer a baby, but has grown to prominence, and is a child of strength and promise, and he hoped that by another year the members would find it a full-grown man.

The baby of Cincinnati hardware dealers he thanked the manufacturers for this excellent entertainment, and concluded by expressing his gratitude at the pleasure of meeting in Cincinnati so many personal friends and business associates.

Mr. Hamilton Diston, of Philadelphia, sang a couple of songs in excellent style, and Mr. Booth, of New York, recited a poem, "The Memory of the Mind and Heart." Then came pleasant little speeches, full of wit and good humor, from Mr. Bartlett, of Chicago, Major Hawkes, of Boston, Mr. Adams, of Cincinnati, Mr. Allen and Mr. Miller, of Chicago, Mr. Fletcher, of Detroit, Mr. Seeburger, Mr. Corbin, Mr. Simmons, and several others. In the midst of these a sentiment was proposed, that as a flash of electricity brought every one to his feet, and from all came one hearty and cordial response. This was "to the health and prosperity of Mr. Charles Peace, who is just on the eve of sailing for England."

The mover was ordered to telegraph this sentiment to Mr. Peace. A toast was also drunk to the health of Mr. R. W. Booth, and the same ordered telegraphed him at Chicago. Mr. Vincent Bradbury, who, in response to a call for a song, played a flute solo excellently earlier in the evening, was again pressed into service and responded with the sweetest strains of the instrument under his mastery touch.

And lastly with a hearty good will, that showed itself in every voice that rang out, came a vote of thanks to Messrs. Gilmore & Sons, of the Grand Hotel.

Deaths on the Steamer J. D. Parker.

The Cincinnati and Memphis packet, James D. Parker, Capt. Robt. W. Wise, bound here, arrived at Evansville yesterday, where she reported having buried Tuesday night, at Tradewater, two of her deck passengers, belonging to a family named Brian, who formerly resided near Covington, Ky., but have recently been located in Arkansas. Of this family the husband and five children have died, and the widow, with five or six children, are returning to their former home on the Parker. The mother is the only well one of the family, but is almost worn out with the care of her sick ones. Capt. Wise, who is one of nature's own noblemen, has a sympathetic heart and will do all within his power for the comfort of these unfortunates. The Parker will arrive here about Saturday.

A case said to be 900 years old has been brought to the office of the Binghamton Republican by Mr. Howell. It is made of reed, has an ivory top, and also a brass ferrule. It is claimed for this interesting staff that it was first owned by Prince Howell the Good, of Wales, in the 9th century, and Mr. Howell claims that, and the legitimate inheritor of the staff. This relic of "high-born Hoel" is to be exhibited at the Centennial Festival.

REWARDED.

Steele & Price, the manufacturers of Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder and Dr. Price's True Flavoring Extracts, are rewarded by having secured to them the reputation of manufacturing good articles. It is a shameful confession to make that many people are willing to use adulterated articles, because of a small reduction in price; and, in doing so, they are doing themselves and the public, and the nation, a great injury. Dr. Price's Baking Powder and Flavoring Extracts being the most perfect made, require in preparing articles of food one-third less in quantity.

"A friend in need is a friend indeed," and such Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup has eminently proven itself to be. Thousands of testimonials. Try it. Price, 25 cents.
